Arts and the Market / Special Issue on "Music, culture, and heritage"

A principle aim of Arts and the Market is to take a broad view of the arts and creative industries and the disciplinary perspectives that inform the field. In line with this vision, this Special Issue focuses on music, culture, and heritage as an innovative lens by which to encourage creativity in the development of marketing theory and practice. Music, culture, and heritage are symbolically embedded throughout the market, as well as within consumer lives and ritualistic practice, thus this special issue invites consideration of music, culture, and heritage as a discursive site of human action and social interaction. As recognized by Arts and the Market, the complex and evolving social action surrounding markets, music, culture, and heritage are generating innovative, unconventional, and radical shifts in the way the market operates, the way music is presented to the market and consumed within, along with the associated cultural heritage and consumption thereof. By considering music, culture, and heritage in a nonconventional, nonconformist manner, the goal is to generate innovative, radical, and even heretical schools of thought in arts marketing research.

Revue d'anthropologie des connaissances - Les « studies » à l'étude : savoirs, trajectoires, politiques

Ce dossier de la Revue d'anthropologie des connaissances trouve son origine dans le développement, en France, de nombreux domaines émergents de recherche obéissant à une labellisation par leur objet, à l'instar des labels et formes de structuration scientifique anglo-saxonne autour des « studies ». Il vise à documenter les processus particuliers de formation des domaines d'études et des communautés scientifiques qui s'en revendiquent, et à interroger leurs différences et/ou similitudes avec les modalités de formation plus classique des champs scientifiques largement documentées par la littérature de sociologie et d'histoire de la connaissance scientifique (Lenoir 1997, Heilbron 2004).

Res Mobilis. International Research Journal on Furniture and Decorative Objects

After the successful reception of works for the four issues of the journal, Res Mobilis launches its next call for papers for the issue in 2017. Note that this journal is specialized in research related to furniture, decorative objects and art, analyzed from different perspectives: market, trade, taste, factories, stores, catalogues, design, relationship between refined-antique and middle class furniture, interior design, the role of the designer, decoration and society,... It has a strong international orientation, and works are accepted in English, French, Portuguese and Spanish, which are assessed using a “double-blind” peer review process.

New book series, Renaissance History, Art & Culture

This series investigates the Renaissance as a complex intersection of political and cultural processes that radiated across Italian territories into wider worlds of influence, not only through Western Europe, but into the Middle East, parts of Asia and the Indian subcontinent. It will be alive to the best writing of a transnational and comparative nature and will cross canonical chronological divides of the Central Middle Ages, the Late Middle Ages and the Early Modern Period.

The series intends to spark new ideas and encourage debate on the meanings, extent and influence of the Renaissance within the broader European world. It encourages engagement by scholars across disciplines -- history, literature, art history, musicology, and possibly the social sciences -- and focuses on ideas and collective mentalities as social, political, and cultural movements that shaped a changing world from ca 1250 to 1650

21. a 23.Setembro.2016 - Congreso Internacional «Propter magnare creatus»... Lengua, literatura y gastronomía entre Italia y la Península Ibérica

Europa, construida sobre la fusión de culturas diversas, ha elaborado, a partir de la Edad Media, una identidad alimentaria y gastronómica extremadamente rica y multiforme. De hecho, parte integrante de la cultura son los modelos alimentarios y gastronómicos, elemento decisivo en la formación de identidades colectivas. Pero la identidad se basa en el intercambio y se transforma con el tiempo. Desde una dimensión cada vez más universal y renacentista de la cocina, a la formación de tradiciones locales bien definidas, hasta el hibridismo de la cocina moderna, la gastronomía ha expresado su propia fuerza creativa e innovadora a través de la lengua y la literatura. Este congreso se propone, por tanto, trazar, en el transcurso de los siglos, el vínculo existente entre gastronomía, lengua y literatura, y su contribución a la construcción de la cultura europea común y compartida, pero preservando la especificidad de cada territorio.

15.Setembro.2016 - The Economy of Dress and Textiles: Avenues of Trade, Production and Consumption in the Early Modern Period

The cloth and textile market is of central importance to the late medieval and early modern economy. Trade routes, centres of production and patterns of consumption were determining factors that stimulated the influx of luxury cloth and textiles into established fashion and textile markets, while second-hand garments developed their own trajectory. Being sold at auctions and dealer shops, they sometimes enjoyed a second life and were often refashioned. The entire cost related to the fashioning of a garment, which comprised the purchase of raw materials and tailoring expenses, is a reflection of the journey and provenance of the relevant textiles, furs and haberdashery prior to their shaping and consumption. In turn, the respective markets for both low-end and high-end goods also played an important role in social and cultural life, as the cost, display and political status of the wearer. The conference aims to generate a discussion about the economy of dress and textiles in relation to the connection between trade, production, consumption and the cost and status of low-end and high-end goods in the late medieval and early modern periods. PhD students and early career researchers are invited to speak about the economy of dress and textiles from a variety of perspectives in order to build a more complete picture of their journey both literal and figurative from raw materials to fully fledged garments that sometimes get refashioned.

04. a 07.Setembro.2016 - Rethinking Gender in Historical Research

The aim of the conference is to bring together graduate students of history who use gender theories as an important tool of their historical investigations. The category of gender is no longer confined to women's and gender studies, but has started to influence research and writing in a broad variety of fields: from international relations to environmental questions, from body politics to the governance of technology. Depending on the theoretical framework and the field of research, gender is used in very different ways: from a synonym for men and women to an analytical instrument, conceived either as performative, as relational or as intersectional.

Works of modern art, archaeological or ethnographic artefacts museum world. Yet, the growing discourse surrounding claims on certain objects made to museums by former owners or communities of origin unite them in one very specific category. Their status appears unsettled as they are caught between conflicting desires and points of view. By bringing together scholars and practitioners dealing with case studies related to different types of museums and collections, this conference aims to facilitate a transdisciplinary engagement with the issue of returns (a term that encompasses here both restitution and repatriation questions).

21. a 23.Junho.2016 - 3CFHC - Troisième Congrès Francophone d'Histoire de la Construction

Une fois encore l'interdisciplinarité, sans laquelle ne peut se concevoir l'histoire de la construction, sera le maître-mot de ce congrès. L'archéologie, l'histoire de l'architecture, l'histoire du droit, l'ingénierie, la mécanique, la littérature... confrontées dans leurs méthodes et leurs résultats seront à nouveau convoquées pour contribuer à l'émergence d'une histoire du bâti.

Comme dans les précédentes manifestations, ce congrès a pour objectif de réunir praticiens de la construction et chercheurs qui étudient l'histoire de la construction. Le croisement des regards sur un même objet d'étude, la construction, avec des méthodes différentes et complémentaires, permettra d'enrichir les questionnements actuels et d'en faire apparaître de nouveaux.

25.Setembro.2016 - Liturgie et architecture. Constructions, usages et aménagements des églises (XIIIe-XVIIIe siècle)

La liturgie et l'architecture paraissent entretenir un lien évident, qui peut s'expliquer de la façon suivante : « Dans ce domaine, la principale interrogation demeure celle de la création des formes architecturales déterminées par les pratiques liturgiques ou bien, à l'inverse, celle de l'influence du cadre architectural sur le déroulement de la liturgie ». (Eric Palazzo, Liturgie et société au Moyen Âge, Paris, 2000). En termes plus récents, cette interrogation apparaît comme une variante du vaste débat entre « forme et fonction » qui irrigue encore de nos jours les milieux de l'architecture : à quelle donnée reviendrait la primauté ?

21.Novembro.2016 - Humanités numériques : théories, débats, approches critiques

La Maison européenne des sciences de l'homme et de la société organise en novembre 2016 la troisième édition de la manifestation scientifique DHnord. DHnord2016 souhaite interroger le rapport entre théorie et pratique dans le domaine des Digital Humanities. On considère que, désormais, de nombreux projets développés dans le cadre d'appels à projets ou de Labex ont atteint une maturité permettant d'examiner le cadre théorique et les effets structurants des technologies utilisées, mais aussi d'interroger la complexité et l'utilisation des technologies numériques, ce qu'on apprend en menant un projet de recherche en humanités numériques et s'il est vraiment possible de constituer une communauté à partir de la diversité des pratiques, des points de vue et des intérêts.
